

TOP STORIES

LATEST NEWS

“Wa-Wa” by Uufie is a reflective walk in the park

By Justine Testado | Sep 27, 2017

Photo: Nanne Springer.

Walk through the Sir Daniel Wilson Quad of the University of Toronto, St. George campus and you'll stumble upon dozens of giant convex mirrors that look like giant water droplets scattered on the green grass. The site-specific installation is called “Wa-Wa” by Toronto-based architecture studio Uufie (<http://www.uufie.com/>), who wanted to playfully challenge the rigid constraints of the Quad.