*Models for Taking Part. Anetta Mona Chisa and Lucia Tkáčová, Bouchra Khalili, Renzo Martens, Tobias Zielony, and Artur Zmijewski – media works. Curated by Juan A. Gaitán. Organized by Presentation House Gallery and adapted for the Justina M. Barnicke Gallery. Influenced by Rancière's notion of an emancipated spectator, the exhibition Models for Taking Part assembles media works by international artists Anetta Mona Chisa & Lucia Tkáčová (b. Slovakia and Romania), Bouchra Khalili (b. Morocco), Renzo Martens (b. The Netherlands), Tobias Zielony (b. Germany), and Artur Zmijewski (b. Poland). The artists critically interpret the public sphere as both an idea and ideal that intersects uneasily with factional and even personal interests. The exhibition presents models of participation in which the idealized marriage between democracy and the public sphere becomes fraught with incongruity, at times appearing unsustainable. Justina M.
