This week @ the Daniels Faculty

Global Architecture: Hida, Japan exhibition

Exhibition opening

6:00pm to 8:00pm | Friday, Sept 16, 2016

Larry Wayne Richards Gallery, 230 College Street

This summer, the Daniels Faculty's Global Architecture program offered graduate students an opportunity to study abroad in Japan with a design and research-oriented focus.

Working in inter-school teams, students developed collaborative prototypes equally invested in ancient craft and current technology. The studio challenged the cohort of international students to:

- Learn and practice traditional Japanese wood carpentry techniques;
- Experience local Hida culture and identify potential strategies for social or economic advancement;
- Experiment with basic IoT sensor technology to investigate the dovetailing of user responsive sensors embedded in wood products.

Join us for the opening of the exhibition featuring photos from the study abroad program on Friday, September 16 from 6:00 - 8:00 PM in the Larry Wayne Richards gallery. Refreshments will be provided.
